Virginia Law Enforcement Professional Standards Commission

The Prince Edward County Sheriff's Office received their initial accreditation status from the Virginia Law Enforcement Professional Standards Commission (VLEPSC) on January 16, 2014 after an agency assessment that took place December 9-11, 2013. The Sheriff's Office is now working toward re-accreditation status which will take place in 2017. Lieutenant Sonya M. Walker is assigned as Accreditation Manager; ensuring that the agency stays in compliance with all standards.

Investigation Units

Major David Wilmoth, Chief Deputy, is in charge of supervision for the investigative unit. 2016 produced cases that range from sexual assaults to burglaries; there were no homicides. The nature of these cases makes it difficult for them to clear immediately. Investigators work long hours with efforts towards solvability. The Sheriff addressed the issue of long work hours for investigators by offering them paid overtime and the ability to carry over vacation time for instances where they have worked a lot of hours so that they can focus on the case.

Narcotic Investigations are assigned to the Piedmont Regional Narcotics and Gang Task Force which was established in March 2013. Prince Edward County has one member assigned to this unit which is compiled of members from other agencies within the region.

CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION STATISTICS

The total warrants for 2016 are 4,003 with 3,987 served. This includes felonies and misdemeanor offenses such as burglary, rape, assault and battery, etc. The Deputies also assisted other agencies with arrests over 201 times. They also served 2801 Uniform Summons.

A Patrol Deputy Sheriff is responsible for the efficient performance of required duties such as general law enforcement responsibilities necessary for the safety and good order of the community. A deputy sheriff is trained to identify criminal offenders and activity, apprehend offenders and participate in subsequent court proceedings. They also reduce the opportunities for the commission of crime through preventive patrol and other measures, aid people who are in danger of physical harm, facilitate the movement of vehicular and pedestrian traffic, identify potentially serious law enforcement or governmental problems, promote and preserve the peace, and provide emergency services.

The patrol division/field operations are supervised by Captain James Farley. This unit is responsible for all enforcement duties as well as responding to calls for service. The deputies are highly visible in the community and they work a lot of traffic in heavily-populated areas throughout the county in an effort to reduce traffic accidents which in turn reduces the loss of property, injuries, and fatalities that occur within our community.

TRAFFIC INFRACTIONS/FIELD OPERATIONS

Working traffic-related incidents is part of the duties for a Patrol Officer. This unit receives grants from the Highway Safety Program to promote safer highways as well as recognition from the Virginia Safety Action Program (VASAP) for DUI arrests. This unit also receives federal grant funding from DMV for traffic enforcement. Both grants support enforcement in areas such as school zones, for special events, high traffic times and weekends. DUI checkpoints and Selective Enforcement duties are established at this time. The DMA Alcohol, Speed and Occupant Protection Grant from October 2015 to September 2016 reflect:

During 2016, the evidence room underwent quarterly inspections and an annual audit. It also underwent an audit due to change in personnel assigned to it. All evidence was found to be submitted in accordance to agency policy and the evidence room was found to be in order. Any evidence that was no longer needed was destroyed in accordance to court order and/or Library of Virginia standards. There were new property and evidence forms created to show date and time of evidence submitted to and from the temporary evidence storage.

Neighborhood Watch

The Tuggle area Neighborhood Watch, Virso Community Neighborhood Watch, and the Greenbay Area neighborhood Watch programs continue to function well and is growing. David Hackney serves as chairman of the Tuggle area watch group. The group was created to deter criminal activity in their neighborhood. It is also a way the community can get to know and watch out for each other. The group meets quarterly or as needed to provide valuable information to the members.

The Neighborhood Watch groups continue to express their gratitude for the assistance from Prince Edward Sheriff Wesley Reed and the support of his deputies. Lt. Robert Franklin is in charge of meeting with citizens and helping them establish Neighborhood Watch Programs.

The Virso Community Neighborhood Watch Program held their 6th Annual Community Event in 2016 at the Virso Recreational Center. Sheriff Wesley Reed participated in the event. There was plenty of food served, and the children played games. This event allows everyone at least once a year to know their neighbor. The Neighborhood Watch Captains are Jerry Townsend and Vincent Marsh.

Highlights of 2014

Sheriff's Office Budget Cuts

There was no budget cut for 2016.

At-Will Program

County Administrator Wade Bartlett presented a report on the sheriff's at-will overtime program. The "at will" traffic enforcement overtime program allows sheriff's deputies to work traffic enforcement at will, which would have to be paid as overtime. The County has grant funds to help pay overtime for enforcement, but restricts the time when deputies can work. The board previously approved a trial period for the program and, with the amount of fines brought in, the personnel and estimating fuel costs, it appears to be essentially breaking even in funding, according to the County Administrator.

Those high traffic volumes, such as the morning commuting times, weekend morning hours, are not covered. Often when staff is working under the grant funding, they become involved in situations that (are) not traffic related, such as handling calls for service. The result is that enforcement does not occur, because they're out answering a call. The at-will program provides additional staff during our busiest periods of enforcement, allowing faster response calls when there is a call for service other than traffic. This increased enforcement will heighten safety in the county, provide badly needed additional manpower, while the additional cost will be covered by the additional enforcement.

Community Meeting

On January 21, 2016 The Prince Edward County Sheriff's Office in collaboration with the Prince Edward County Middle School hosted a D.A.R.E. Community Meeting for all residents of the county. The purpose of the meeting was to re-introduce the D.A.R.E. Program to the community, educate them about current drug, internet, gang, and bullying trends and to answer any questions/concerns they may have. Guest Speakers for the event were:

Hamlet E. Hood Jr., an Investigator with the Department of Juvenile Justice who presented information regarding youth internet activity

Cristopher M. Burke, an Investigator with the Department of Corrections Regional Gang Unit and member of the Virginia Gang Investigator's Association. Mr. Burke discussed "The Big Lie," an informative video created by the Virginia Attorney General's Office that offers information about gang activity and threats

Stephen Mercer, Deputy Sheriff with the Prince Edward County Sheriff's Office discussed bullying. Deputy Mercer serves as the agencies School Resource Officer at Prince Edward County High School

Sonya M. Walker, Lieutenant and D.A.R.E. Officer with Prince Edward County Sheriff's Office, offered information regarding the D.A.R.E. program, current drug trends, and school safety.

Highlights of Cases 2016

Cold Case: Reservoir Remains Possibly Identified

The human remains recovered in a reservoir located in Prince Edward County in 2008 are believed to be 50-year-old Glenn Edward Wilson. Investigators have also determined Wilson worked for a time as a carpenter in Kill Devil Hills and other areas of Dare County, North Carolina. In our effort to find out more information about this individual, our hope was that someone would recognize Mr. Wilson's photo and provide us with more clues about places he worked in the Outer Banks, co-workers who may have known him, or other information so we can locate his family and friends.

This investigation is currently considered a suspicious death. The recovered remains had seven tattoos: a leaf/feather on his neck; on his right arm were a confederate flag with a skull and helmet, an eagle entwined with a letter "A" and a figure of Yosemite Sam; on his left arm were a bulldog and another eagle. One of the most distinctive tattoos was a red heart with two arrows and words written in cursive "I Love you Kelsey always" which was also found on the individual's left arm. The Prince Edward County Sheriff's Office and the Virginia State Police are investigating the case. Those with information should contact Lt. Richard Hurak.

Summary

This agency continues to seek grant opportunities to aid in funding so that improved services can be provided for our community and to lessen the impact of running this department. The employees of this agency work diligently to be resourceful; utilizing cost and savings measures whenever possible. If funds can be saved on equipment and uniforms, then it is accomplished. To ensure the highest level of service is provided for the county, the Sheriff's Office creates and manages a budgeting system that is evaluated on a monthly basis.
